AESTHETICS Society

The Society for the Arts in Religious and Theological Studies had its charter meeting at the 2002 AAR/SBL. The Society was organized to provide a forum for scholars and artists interested in the intersections between theology, religion, and the arts to share thoughts, challenge ideas, strategize approaches in the classroom, and to advance the discipline in theological and religious studies curricula. The goal of the Society is to attract consistent participation of a core group of artists and scholars of theology and religion in order to have dialogue about the theological and religious meaning of the arts, and the artistic/aesthetic dimension of theological and religious inquiry.

In addition to admission to the meetings of the Society, members will receive a subscription to ARTS: The Arts in Religious and Theological Studies, published by the theology and the arts program at United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities. Edited by Wilson Yates and Kimberly Vrudny, the journal publishes articles on theology and the arts in the study, studio, sanctuary, and classroom.

Members will also receive an online newsletter with information about the Society's meetings, and news from within the discipline.
